ABOUT THE AUTHOR

David Vaver, B.A., LL.B., J.D., is Professor of Law at Osgoode Hall Law School at York University, where he teaches intellectual property law. He taught previously at the University of British Columbia and the University of Auckland. He is the founding editor and editor in chief of the internationally respected Intellectual Property Journal. He also serves as an adviser to the Department of Heritage on copyright law reform, including the present Phase 2 proposals to amend the Copyright Act. Professor Vaver has written extensively on the law and policy of intellectual property both in Canada and internationally, and his writings are often cited by courts and legal writers.
